Activities

Homecoming is when everything comes alive. There are floats and contests that give everyone pride. Sweetheart Banquet comes but once a year. You always remember it because you were with someone dear. Prom's exciting to those who get to go. Juniors, Seniors and their dates are all happy with a smiling glow. The Variety Show has everything in it. From skits to solos that give everyone a kick. There are many banquets during the year. With sports and honors we think the end is near. The plays and musical make everyone happy and glad, But when it's over we all are very sad.

Dances are one of many school activities.

Juniors Present Duo in 1978

The Junior Class altered the single play tradition at CCHS, switching to a duo presentation.

"Ghost for Rent" featured Melody Wideman, Philip Pulley, Linda Rice, Brent Gentry, Dan Gobert, Judy Kovach, Beth Pierce, Jeanette Cross, and Kayla Whiting. The one-act play opened as four teenagers answered an old lady's ad for a ghost. The youths soon found themselves in for far more than they could handle.

The second billing, "Snowy White and the Seven Dwarfs" was an up-to-date version of the familiar fairy tale. Gayle Howerton, Kelley Yates, Debbie Miller, Pam Cuendet, and John Pearsley were featured along with Mary McCalla, Ron Runge, Viv Cowan, Don Runge, Debbie Scott and Scott Williams as the dwarfs.

CASTS: FIRST ROW: Gayle Howerton, Beth Pierce, Ron Runge, Debbie Scott, Pam Cuendet, Phil Pulley, Art Murray, Mary McCalla, Kelley Yates, Linda Rice. SECOND ROW: Melody

Ambrose (Ted Jennings), Dolly (Brenda Sanders), and Ermengarde (Pam Barnett).

Chorus Presents "Hello, Dolly!" in 1978

"Hello Dolly" is the story of Dolly Levi and her schemes to get Horace Vanderzelder to marry her. Dolly sets him up on a date with Irene Malloy. However, as fate would have it, the day that Horace goes to New York to see her, she is already being visited by his own two poor clerks, Cornelius and Barnaby.

Mrs. Malloy and her employee, Minnie Fay, hide the boys and Dolly walks in just in time to keep Horace from finding them. She suggests that they all go to the Harmonica Gardens. Dolly pairs Mrs. Malloy with Cornelius, Minnie with Barnaby and then tells Horace that she has set him up with Ernestina Money.

At the Harmonica Gardens everything falls apart. Miss Money turns out to be a flirt, with whom it embarrasses Horace to be seen. Cornelius and Barnaby only have 90¢ to pay for dinner, so they try to dance their way out of the restaurant. Horace catches them and fires them for leaving without his permission. The last straw comes when he finds his young niece, Ermengarde, entered in a dance contest with her beau, Ambrose, whom Horace hates. A mad scene follows, and everyone in the restaurant is arrested. However, Dolly saves the day by getting everyone freed but Horace. When he is released, he comes to his senses and realizes that Dolly is the woman for him. He agrees to let Ermengarde marry Ambrose, and even wishes Cornelius well when he announces that he is marrying Mrs. Malloy.

The musical was directed by Mrs. Vicki Gualdoni. The accompanists were Mr. Tim Gualdoni and Mrs. Norma Johnson.

Horace (Jeff Malone) and Ernestina (Kelley Yates).

Cornelius (Bill Drew), Irene (Erin Stevens), Barnaby (Doug Johnson), and Minnie (Jeanette Cross).

Prom was held on May 13, 1978, at John A. Logan College from 8:00 p.m. to 11:30 p.m. Music was provided by Bogart, and the theme was "A Time for Us." The banquet hall was decorated with silver and gold stars. Favors provided by the Junior Class were goblets with the theme printed on the glass. After-prom was held at Coo Coo's and S.I. Bowl from 1:00 a.m. to 5:00 a.m.

"Lion Is the Word" for Homecoming

Homecoming Week began on Monday, October 9, with working on class floats. On Thursday, the Student Council sponsored a "Greaser Day" to promote the theme of "Lion Is the Word."

At the coronation Thursday night, Mary Bush was crowned Queen; and Pam Cuendet, Maid of Honor. Between the coronation and bonfire, FHA held a Dessert Supper. Student Council sponsored a bonfire after the coronation; it included such games as a pie-eating contest, stuffing a volkswagon, and a tug-of-war between classes.

Stage Club Has "Rock- n-Roll" Time

Mary Gayle (Jeanette Cross), Forrest (John Allen), and Sally Kay (Gayle Howerton).

Little Richard (Robert Patrick), Audy Volner, Johnny Sapphire (Eric McCluskey), Steve Rogers, David Helton, and John McDowell.

The Stage Club surpassed themselves this year with their successful production, "Rock-n-Roll," a musical comedy set in the 1950's. It was presented on December 4 and 5 by a cast of Juniors and Seniors. All four performances were sold out.

The hero of the play was Corndoggie (Phil Pulley), a high school student at Hoover High. Betsy Lou (Beth Pierce) was the girl he fell in love with, but stood up because of a dream he had.

In his dream, Corndoggie and Betsy Lou were involved in a car wreck on the way to Prom. Betsy Lou died instantly, but Corndoggie lived. After he realized it was just a dream, he decided to stand Betsy Lou up in order to save her life. (Corndoggie's dreams always came true.)

Once Betsy Lou realized she had been stood up, she agreed to go out with Forrest Barret (John Allen). She then forgot about Corndoggie and started seeing Forrest.

Later Duffy (Bill Drew) and Mannfred (Larry Hunter) tried to get Corndoggie to call Betsy Lou. Darlene (Erin Stevens) and Bumpers (Kelley Yates) also tried to get Betsy Lou to call Corndoggie.

In the end, Betsy Lou and Corndoggie got back together, and Bumpers and Duffy got together for the first time.

Some of the music was provided by a live band, with Mrs. Norma Johnson playing the piano for most of the musical numbers. Members of the band were John Allen at the drums, Nathan Hines at the rhythm guitar, Frank Hardcastle at the bass guitar, James Pritchett at the lead guitar, and Doug Hatton on the saxophone.

The musical was directed by Mrs. Sheri Hunter and Miss Conni Hooker. Student directors were Sara Armstrong, Mary McCalla, and Eric McCluskey.

The Variety Show Is a Tremendous Cabaret

The "Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy" quartet took first place.

Bill Drew won second place with his original creation.

Robert Patrick, Mary Taylor and Audy Volner took third place for their commercials.

Kool Daddy and Son delight the audience with two songs.

Jeanette Cross sings with a Cockney accent.

Judy Kovach displays the gracefulness of ballet.

Eric McCluskey sings "Oklahoma."

The "ballerinas" perform their rendition of "Festival of the Clouds."

Brenda Sanders and Pam Barnett dance together "forever."

Dean Brown and Kevin Bonifield perform a comedy routine.

This year the Stage Club presented a Variety Show for their spring performance. Forty-six students participated in the show. There were a variety of acts which included song and dance routines, stage bands, ballet dancing, skits, commercials, and comedy routines. Prizes of $25, $10, and $5 were awarded for first, second, and third places. The entire show was a tremendous success and a definite "Cabaret."

Maria and the children, dressed in curtain clothes, greet Captain von Trapp.

The Von Trapps escape after performing "So Long, Farewell" at the Festival.

The "Sound of Music" told the true story of young Maria Rainer and her adventures with the Von Trapp family during pre-war Austria in 1938. Maria was preparing to be a nun, but she didn't seem to fit into life at the Abbey. Therefore, the Mother Abbess sent her to be governess of the seven children of the widowed Captain von Trapp. Seeing that the Von Trapp home resembled a battleship more than a home, Maria decided to bring laughter and music back to the family.

At a party given for Baroness Schroeder, the Captain's fiancé, Maria danced with the Captain and realized she was falling in love with him. She ran back to the Abbey to escape these emotions, but the Mother Abbess told her that a man and woman's love is also holy and urged her to search for God's will.

When Maria returned, Georg realized he was in love with her and married her just as the war began to close in on Austria. The Captain was told that he must either work for the German Navy or die. Rather than fight against his beloved Austria, the family escaped into free Switzerland.

Seniors of '79 Party at Kentucky Lake

Seniors get off the bus to start their adventures at Kentucky Lake.

On May 11, 1979, 47 Seniors traveled to Kentucky Lake for their annual Senior Trip. Four sponsors, Mrs. Bratcher, Mrs. Watson, Mrs. Ziegler, and Mr. Taylor, accompanied them. The class chartered a bus from West Bus Service for the trip. They left from the high school at 7 a.m. and arrived at the resort area around 10 a.m.

They went to a picnic area and divided into groups that went boating or sunbathed or played frisbee. They had lunch at the Ken Bar Inn; and then some went swimming, some shopping, and some horse-back riding.

Later that afternoon, a few Seniors went go-cart riding, and another group went horse-back riding. Everything went fine throughout the day until the last group was horseback riding. Linda Yack's horse stepped in a rut, and she fell off her horse and broke her ankle.

With the exception of this accident and a few rain clouds, the day was a tremendous success which every member of the class of '79 will remember forever.

Enjoying the sun are Carla Zedialis and Judy Kovach.

In the lead are John English, Dean Brown, and David Anderson.

On the trail Phil Pulley and Ken Stroud have a frisbee contest.

Jim Evans gains yards against Johnston City.

The 1978 Varsity Football team had a very impressive record — nine and two. This included winning the Black Diamond Conference. In the Preliminary Round of the State Playoffs, Carterville defeated Marshall 6 to 0. Carterville went down to defeat in the Quarter Finals of the State Playoffs against Carlinville 6 to 14.

Those chosen for All Conference were Offensive End John English, Offensive Tackle Jeff McKinney, Offensive Guard Ron Runge, Offensive Halfback Mark Epps, Defensive End Jim Evans, Defensive End Monty Jeralds, Defensive Tackle Steve Falmier, Defensive Guard Nathan Hines, Defensive Linebacker John Pearsley who was also the Offensive Captain for the Conference, Defensive Linebacker David Anderson, Defensive Halfback John Hancock, and Fullback Dan Gobert.

Those named as All Southern Illinois were Monty Jeralds, Steve Falmier, John Pearsley, Dan Gobert, and Mark Epps. Mark Epps was also named the Most Valuable Player in the Conference and played in the All State Game in Bloomington.

At the conclusion of the 1978 season, Coach Deck named his captains for next year; they are Mike Jennings, Eric McCluskey, and John Hancock.

Junior Varsity Football Team Wins 43% of Their Games

After losing the first game of the season, the Junior Varsity Football team played .500 for the remaining six games of the season. Two of the last four teams the Junior Varsity Football team played were held scoreless. After the first game, the Junior Varsity defense matured quickly allowing just 12.3 points per game. When the coach, Robert Taylor, was asked how he felt the team played during the season he replied, "The football team was stunned the first game of the season; but after that, the team was fighting for victories until the final minutes. The Junior Varsity football team still won 43% of their games throughout the season."

Freshman Football Team Is Disappointed With 0-7 Season

The 1978 Freshman Football team had a record of 0-7 at the end of the season. This statistic really did not reflect the season. The Freshman Football team had a good defense allowing no team to score more than three touchdowns.

Their problems were in their offense; their offense was unable to score more than one touchdown during a game. The Freshman Football team had a disappointing season in 1978, but they felt as though they could improve their seasonal record next year.

Girls' Track Member Qualifies for State Semifinals

The girls had a very successful season beating 11 of the 16 school records held since most of these girls were Freshmen. The girls had a very tough District meet qualifying only two girls to go to State but coming in fourth out of a field of twenty-four teams. Kim Kelly and Barbie Drew went to the State meet, Kelly qualifying for the semifinals and Drew dropping out after the preliminaries.

All of the girls will be coming back since they were all Freshmen, Sophomores, and Juniors. They are looking to another successful season and, hopefully, to incoming Freshmen to help out next year.

Barbie Drew was the most outstanding track participant scoring a total of 79 points followed closely by Kim Kelly with 76 points. Others ranking high were Cindy Stuck with 63 points, Julie Leeper with 62 points, and Melissa Masters with 52 points.

On May 13, 1978, the Band played at the Krannert Hall on the University of Illinois campus at Champaign-Urbana. The three numbers performed at the contest were "Prelude to Kunihild", "Coat of Arms," and "Homage to the U.S. Navy." Of the sixteen Class B bands invited, Carterville emerged the State champs!

During the 1978-79 marching season along with playing at all the home football and basketball games, Carterville High School Band marched in four parades: the Apple Festival Parade, the Free Fair Parade, the Homecoming Parade, and SIU's Homecoming Parade in Carbondale.

In the concert season, the Band held a Christmas Concert playing selections such as "Englanders Carol" and "The Christmas Song" in which they invited the audience to sing along.

They also attended this year's band contest in Eldorado for which they received a high rating for their efforts.

On May 6, they held a Spring Concert at the Junior High performing "My Fair Lady," "Blame It on the Boogie," "Barry Manilow in Concert," and "The Siege of Corinth."

They ended the year by playing Pomp and Circumstance at Graduation.

Drill Team and Twirlers March With the Band

Majorette Tracy Jarrell and Major Art Murray.

The Drill Team and Twirlers added color and festivity to parades and football game halftimes. The Drill Team was headed by Brenda Sanders and Pam Barnett, both four-year members. They helped give the Drill Team a new look by elaborating on themes to the halftimes. The Twirlers were coached by Cindy Riggs, a former CHS Twirler. Drum Major was Art Murray for the second year; and Drum Major-ette was Tracy Jarrell, a four-year twirler.

TWIRLERS: Jennifer Gentry, Rosina Pansing, Ginger Watson, Gidget Dietz, Drum Majorette Tracy Jarrell.

Chorus Presents Musical Programs

The Carterville High School Chorus under its second year with Mrs. Gualdoni successfully completed another musical season. The required musical in the spring was "The Sound of Music" with Brenda Sanders carrying the lead role. The All-School Swing Choir and Chorus also went to the IHSA Musical Contest. The Freshman Swing Choir sang with the Stage Band.

French Club Celebrates King's Festival

Tracy Lohmeier serves the Bean King.

From the opening scavenger hunt to the closing dinner, French Club kept active throughout the year.

The first meeting in September was held at school in Room 202. The evening began with a scavenger hunt won by Judy Kovach, Kayla Whiting, and Bill Drew. Refreshments were served, officers were elected, and plans were made for future meetings.

French Club celebrated various holidays on the Parisian calendar — one of which was Festival de le Roi or Festival of the King celebrated on January 6. On this holiday a cake is baked with a hidden bean. The person who finds the bean in their piece of cake is crowned King or Queen for the day. The beanless cake eaters must then perform numerous tricks for their majesty.

French Club financed their year by working concession stands, and that they did a total of three times.

The last meeting was the annual banquet dinner. French III student and President David Morris led his French Club through a rewarding year.

French Club members have fun serving at concession stand.

Four Students Place at FBLA State Convention

Students listen to Mrs. Newcom discuss plans for FBLA.

The FBLA Club attended State Convention this year at Springfield, where Crystal Spence won first in the poster contest, Kayla Whiting placed ninth in Miss FBLA, David Anderson placed ninth in Mr. FBLA, and Pam Cuendet placed ninth in office procedures. There were five girls who participated in the talent show: Ginger Watson, Crystal Spence, Susan Schwarm, Pam Cuendet, and Linda Rice.

In the summer Crystal Spence participated in the National Convention in the poster contest. Kayla Whiting also attended the National Convention held at New Orleans.

President Kayla Whiting won a scholarship from the Southern Illinois Business Education Association for $100 in April.

FHA Has a Busy Year

FHA started the year with a hayride, the highlight being when the wagon broke off from the tractor! October found them at their annual Halloween costume party with the traditional hot dog and marshmallow roast. Christmas brought a holiday party and discussion of future plans for the club. In January the Sweetheart Banquet was held at SIU, where Pam Gentry was crowned queen. In the spring FHA took a trip to Six Flags.

Erin Stevens is mistress of ceremonies at the Sweetheart Banquet.

Library Club Prosper From Book Fair

The Library Club met once a month at a member's house. They discussed plans for future activities, had refreshments, and had fun.

For Homecoming, the Library Club sponsored a stunt in the parade and elected an attendant for Homecoming, who was Carla Zedialis.

The club was a member of the regional organization, Little Egypt Student Media Association, and also of the state organization, Illinois Student Librarian Association.

The Library Club sponsored a Book Fair as their service to the school. They then purchased new books from the proceeds.

In April, the club observed National Library Week. Also in the spring the club members were rewarded for their work by celebrating a "Spring Fling." That was an evening out for a concert, a dinner, and a party.

LIONITE Changes Format

This year the LIONITE had to weigh the pros and cons of a spring delivery versus a summer/fall delivery book. If there was a spring delivery, students would receive their yearbooks before the end of the school year but there would be fewer pages, no color, and no spring activities included. The LIONITE presented the problem to the Senior Class and they voted for the summer/fall delivery.

The LIONITE staff worked diligently on the yearbook during the school year. Students worked during their study halls and after school on Mondays and Tuesdays.

On April 6, six staff members attended the Spring SISPA Conference held at Southern Illinois University. They attended classes explaining the best formats and designs for yearbooks.

While most students were on summer vacation, the LIONITE staff was still working hard to finish the pages which contained spring activities to insure a good 1978-1979 yearbook.

NHS

Inducts 29

Members met in the fall and elected new officers. Later in the year they started to revise their bylaws.

The National Honor Society this year felt education was the total product measuring the dimensions of life: Character, Leadership, Scholarship, and Service. People chosen for NHS met these specific guidelines.

New members were tapped on April 11, and a meeting was held afterwards in the cafeteria. On May 17, at John A. Logan College, 29 new members were initiated and Seniors received pins before the Honors Banquet.

Workers Provide Services

The Main Office workers and Guidance Office workers were volunteer students who signed up to work in the offices during a free period. Throughout the year, they wrote late passes, answered phone calls, and took messages. Their work was often hectic and tedious. They received no class credit and few fringe benefits; however, they kept going all year long. Mr. Newton, Mrs. Sparks, and Mrs. Appuhn appreciated having them.

SPHINX Writer Places at SISPA

The Carterville High School newspaper, the SPHINX, was published monthly. In the fall, the SPHINX staff solicited ads from local businessmen to raise the $90 per issue that was needed to produce the newspaper. The staff members gathered news and information from the student body, then wrote and typed the articles. Several staff members edited, cut stories, and decided upon layouts for the newspaper. After they were completely finished with the paste-ups, they were sent to the printer. The SPHINX was sold by staff members to students for 15¢ a copy.

Several members of the SPHINX staff attended the Spring SISPA Conference held at Southern Illinois University on April 6. Bill Drew received an Honorable Mention for his editorial on the emphasis placed on high school sports.

The Student Council sponsored many events that made the year unique.

They had many projects like the Homecoming dance, parade, bonfire, queen coronation, Greaser Day, and the Skit Show.

During Christmas, many activities took place. There was the decorating of doors, with the Guidance Office taking the grand prize. Shop won the first floor ribbon, second floor prize went to the library, and the third floor prize went to Mrs. Robinson's U.S. History class. The honorable mention went to the janitors' door. After that, Student Council went Christmas caroling; they then went to Mr. Wade's house for a party and planned the coming activities.

Student Council raised money by selling cards, holding concession stands, and having the Hat Dance.

The student body was surprised in January by Student Council, when the National Frisbee Champions, Chow and José, came for an exhibition.

Chow displays his skill at the frisbee exhibition.

Jimmy Reed participates in one of Student Council's activities by wearing an original hat on Hat Day.

Classes

We are here being prepared for the future we face.
The Seniors will leave with all they have learned.
While the Juniors take their place.
It seems that everything's turned.
Turned in different directions.
The Sophomores become Juniors where their dreams will find satisfaction.
While the Freshmen become Sophomores with their own splendor.
Still there are more to come and more to go,
And with them will be their schoolhood dreams.
To live and fulfill to their own will and to always know.

Turning corners is a part of our everyday life.

Seniors Are on Their Way Up!

On Senior Night, "cheerleaders" stir up enthusiasm.

Bill Drew announces, "Hello world — it's me!"

A new phase in our lives began in the fall of 1975 when we entered high school for the first time. There were 116 of us, and we chose Mark Melton as our leader for our Freshman year. Our biggest accomplishment as a newly united class was the making of our Homecoming Float. We made a sewing machine entitled "You Ain't Seamed Nothing Yet," and even though we didn't win first prize, we had reason to be proud of ourselves. We earned the school spirit stick, which is kept by the class with the best school spirit.

August of 1976 brought a new school year, and we found ourselves no longer the low men on the totem pole. We elected Linda Rice as our president, and she was to keep the office for the remaining three years. Our Sophomore football team played an undefeated season, and our class backed them by defending our ownership of the spirit stick. For most of us, our Sophomore year brought a very important change — drivers' licenses.

We entered school as Juniors in 1977 and suddenly found ourselves upperclassmen, halfway through our times at Carterville High. When it came time for the Junior Play, we broke from tradition and presented two one-act plays, which were very well received. As Juniors, it was our responsibility to plan and finance a prom for the Seniors. Using the theme "A Time for Us," we staged the dance at John A. Logan and an after-prom at Co-Coo's. As spring drew to a close, we carefully planned our class schedules for our final year.

Autumn of 1978 signaled the start of our last year. As Seniors, we became the class that the rest of the school looked to for leadership. Our time was too short as we tried to cram everything we wanted to experience and accomplish into a final nine months. We joined forces with the Juniors and gave a combined Junior-Senior Play called "Rock and Roll" that was great. We struggled together as a class to arrange a Senior trip which gave us memories to last a lifetime. Then suddenly Graduation was upon us. It was time to say goodbye to friends that we had grown to love. Though we looked forward to new experiences after leaving CCHS, it was sad to leave an old way of life behind forever.

SENIORS

Juniors Try to Be Millionaires

Traci White takes a "cat nap" at a basketball game.

Everyone smiles in English III.

Curtis Runge and Larry Hunter sing carols at Christmas.

Sara Armstrong waits for her turn at bat.

John Allen drums at the bonfire.

When Homecoming was in the air, the thoughts of the Juniors turned to the construction of the float. This year the float was made at Curtis Oetjen's house with many Juniors working each night. Toby, Curtis' Doberman Pinscher kept a faithful watch over the float, making "bombers" wary of any idea of destruction to the float.

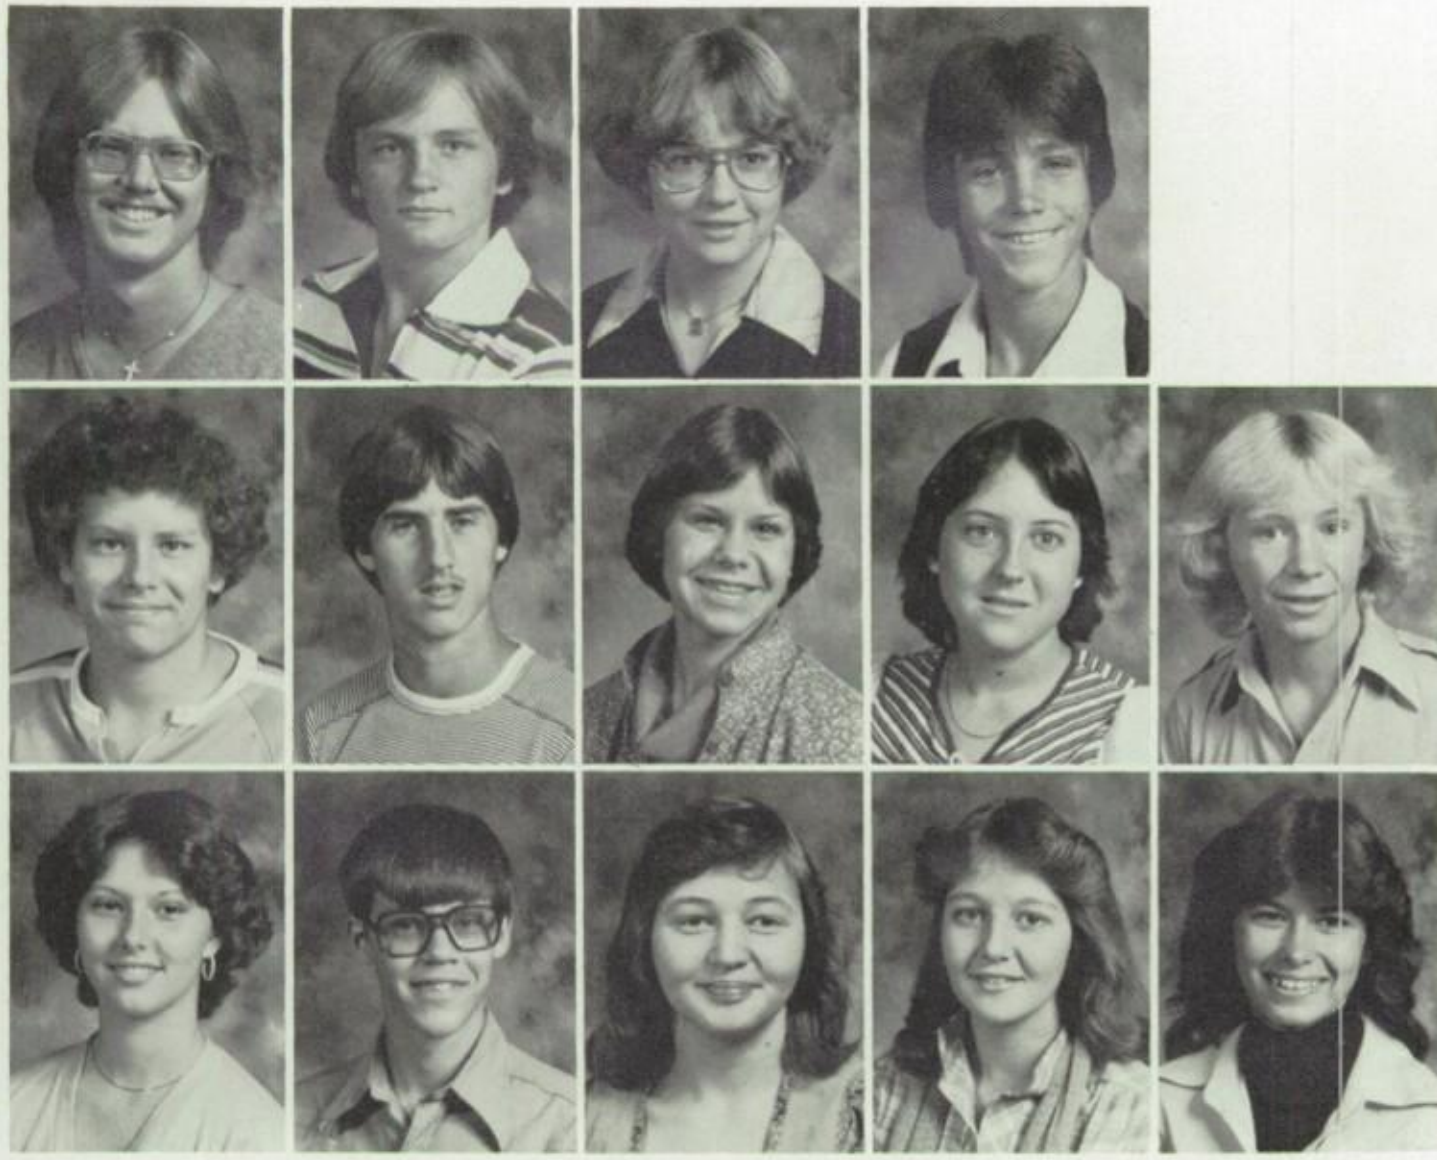

The Juniors put great thought into the theme of their float, "Tippy Canoe and the Indians Too." This was a giant canoe broken in half by a rock and spouting water from the canoe. The Juniors, by far the wealthiest class, worked diligently this year selling candy and grabbing concession stands when available. Their class theme seemed to be "making money." When Free Fair time came, the Juniors were out selling raffle tickets for a ceramic Christmas tree. The Juniors worked hard, making money to insure a great Prom. This year the Prom was held at SIU in the ballrooms and included a live band.

Sophomores Win Float Competition

Steve Emery and Richard English get some helpful advice from Mrs. Samuel.

Kathy Crowell and Amber Geiselman are glad that the school day is over.

Marty Schwartz considers record choices.

Annetta Edwards, Jamie Jent, and Crystal Stennett cut desserts for the chili supper.

This year the Sophomore Class started the year off well by winning first place with their Homecoming float entitled "Lion is the Word." The students met at Steffes Construction Company to work on the float after school and on weekends. It featured a giant Lion dictionary with a Lion (Amber Geiselman) teaching the rival Johnston City Indians (Jamie Jent, Annetta Edwards, Jannetta Edwards and Denise Tottleben).

Sophomore students worked at football and basketball concession stands to raise money for the class. They held a chili and dessert supper in December and sold cake and cupcakes at the basketball game the same night.

In February students sold subscriptions to magazines and records. Prizes were given to those who sold the most. The students wanted to be sure they were prepared for their Junior prom and Senior trip.

Freshmen Easily Adjust to High School Life

Jim Ballestro and Rodney Bonner study in study hall.

Barbara Hudson, Peggy Kovach, and Cindy Schlesinger are surprised by the LIONITE photographer.

Kim Kelly and Mary Evans wait in line at a concession stand.

Many topics are discussed in English I.

Dodie Crabb and Connie Runge meet their friends for a snack after a game.

Many Freshmen came to Carterville High School lost and unaccustomed to the busy high school life. Within a few short weeks, they became more at ease with the school and were having fun.

A majority of the Freshmen liked high school more than junior high. They said they felt there was "more freedom." This year's class had concession stands in the fall, sold candy in April, and had various other money-making projects.

The Freshmen put much effort into the Homecoming float competition, but unfortunately they came in last with "Block the Indians." They had a lot of fun and said it was a good experience; they plan to do better next year.

To Succeed Students Unite

Even though the students at Carterville High School were loyal to their own individual classes, they often united to complete school projects. Students worked together to present plays, musicals, concerts, etc., and to promote school spirit.

The student body supports school spirit by attending all pep sessions.

Students trudge through the snow to meet their bus.

Everyone waits for the arrival of the Varsity Football team after the victory over Marshall.

The local disco is a favorite "studying" spot.

The band plays at halftime at the basketball games to help raise school spirit.

Art class offers a way for students to express their ideas.

Faculty

There are many people who help us to learn.
 There are different likes to ease one's yearn.
 We have math and English for everyone.
 Band and chorus for us to play or sing a song.
 There are history and science which we all need.
 And cooking and shop if you please.
 We have P.E. to shape us up. Also driver's ed., and we wish you all luck.
 There are typing and other classes for your life ahead.
 Or if that's not what you like, there's art and drafting instead.
 There's time to relax in the lunch room while we eat,
 And study hall is where we all stop and meet
 With the counselor and principal and many more.

Administra- tors Strive to Improve School

Geiselman, Jim Waldron, and Larry Woolard.

The School Board members usually meet the second Thursday of each month. They discuss various problems and ways of improving the school district. They also may call special meetings if something important arises. Anyone may attend these meetings. The officers are as follows: Ron Rains, President; Garford Gooden, Vice President; Wanda Kirk, Secretary; and Virginia Johnson, Treasurer.

Mr. Gerald Cuendet, our Superintendent, came to Unit 5 six years ago. Since then he has tried to expand the Unit's curricular programs. He thinks highly of Unit 5 and feels that we have one of the finest reading programs in the State. Mr. Cuendet feels that a Unit does not need all the extras as long as it has the basics.

With regard to the class of '79, Mr. Cuendet feels that it contains some fine young men and women.

Mr. Gerald Cuendet

Mrs. Diane Coale

Mr. Tom Armstrong

Mr. Armstrong worked in the Unit 5 School District for 22 years before being appointed Junior High Principal. He has had that position for 10 years, as well as being Athletic Director for the Unit.

Mr. Dawson keeps himself very busy. He is head of the Vocational Program, Title 1 Reading Program, all of the Unit Cafeterias, transportation, and Custodian Supervisor. The Vocational Program deals with the Cooperative Work Training Program taught at the high school and also with the courses taught off the campus.

Mrs. Coale, Unit Clerk; Mrs. Emery, Unit Secretary; and Mrs. Kirk, Unit Bookkeeper, do the general duties of running a Unit Office. Without these three women, the Unit would not run so smoothly.

Mrs. Edith Emery

Mr. Gale Dawson

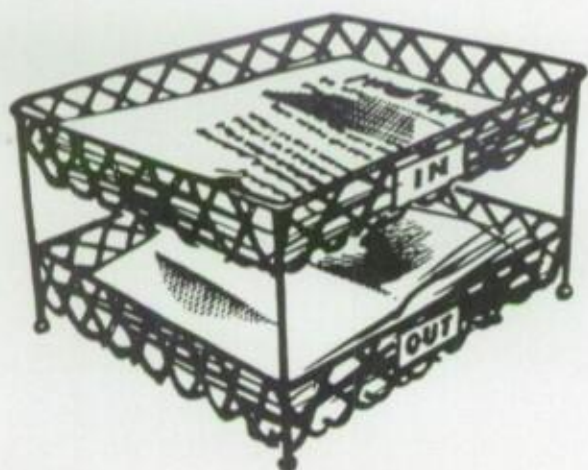

Mrs. Wanda Kirk

Mr. Leroy Newton

Students Find Authority and Friendship in the Office

Most of us saw them every-day, whether it was to get a late pass, get an idea approved for a club, or just to talk. Secretary Mrs. Sparks was here when the Seniors first entered CCHS in 1975, and she saw them grow from immature Freshmen who always got late passes to mature Seniors who always got late passes.

Mr. Newton inherited the Class of '79 as new Juniors when he came to Cartersville High in 1977. It was common to see him with one of them, initialing posters, sharing a joke, or discussing a recent football game. He taught us all that it was possible to be a principal and a friend at the same time.

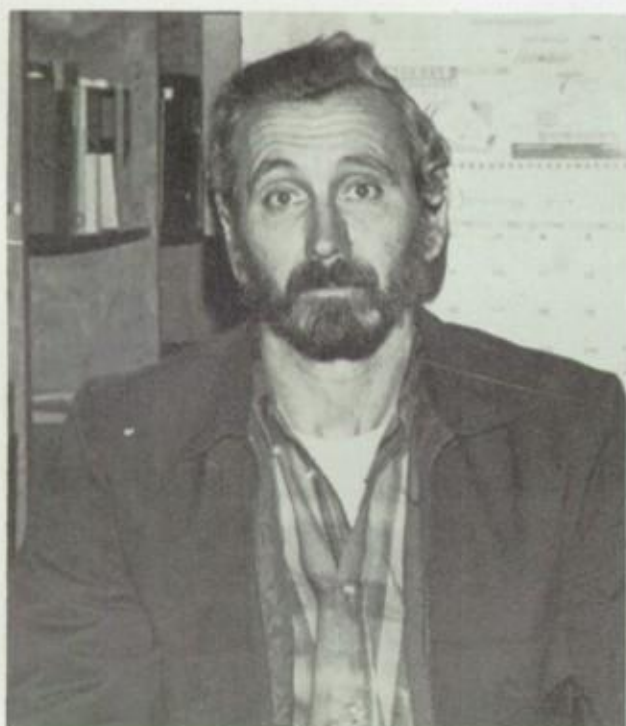

Mrs. Katherine Sparks

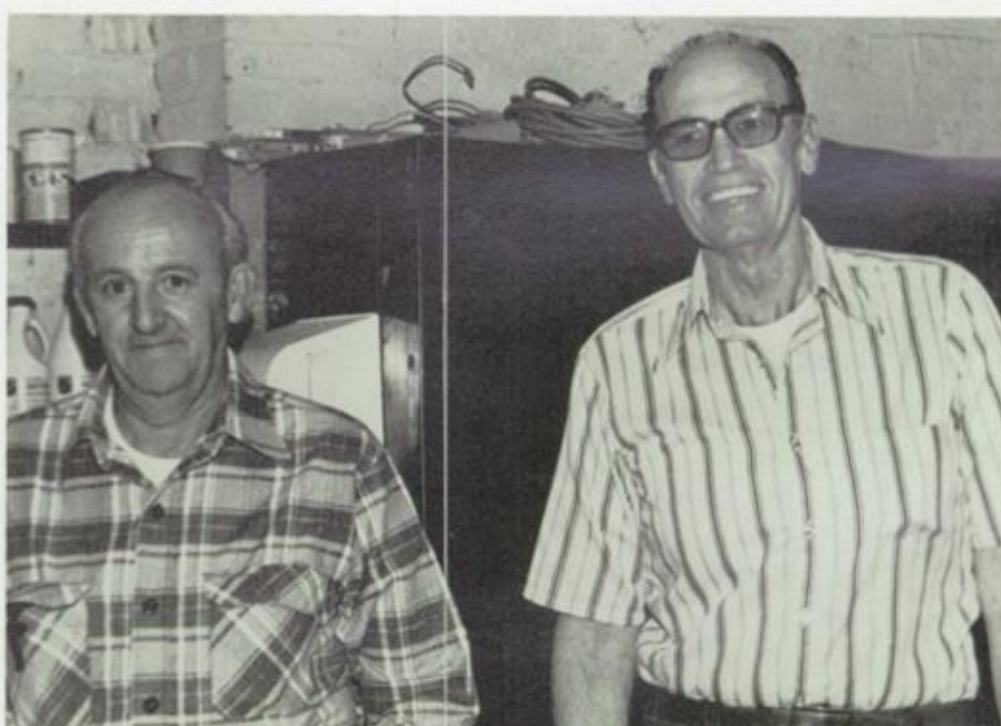

Mr. Dawson and Mr. Corley repair damage to a window.

COOKS: Maxine Howell and Zenobia Fike.

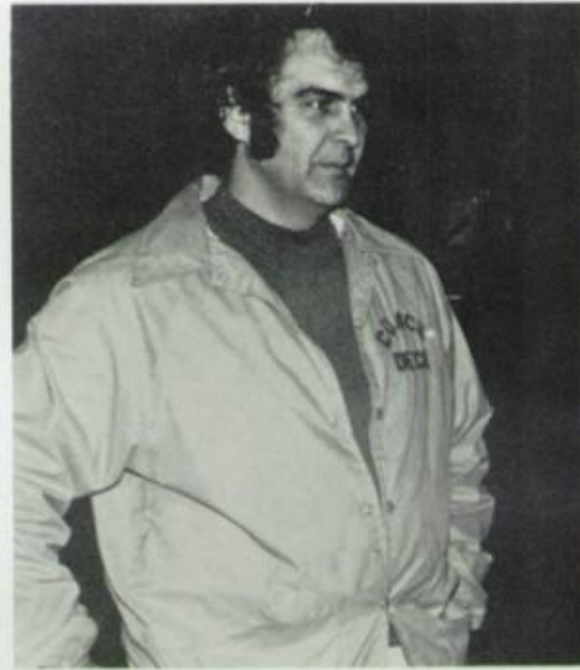

CUSTODIAN: John Watson.

CUSTODIANS: William McNeill and Bill Corley.

These People Are Behind the Scenes

Our school was run by a lot of people, some of whom we hardly ever saw. These were the cooks and custodians, who were here at CCHS daily, just as we were. We didn't stop to think that someone had worked all morning to prepare our lunches. And we probably didn't realize that someone was here late at night, cleaning up for another day. These were the people that did these things for us, and we'd like to take the time right now to just say "Thank you!"

Students Participate in Various Classroom Activities

Several new and exciting changes occurred in many classes this year. In the Social Studies Department, Government was made into a semester class. This was done to provide Seniors with the opportunity of taking another class or retaking the Government class if it was failed first semester.

The Business Department was improved by changing all the electric typewriters to IBM Selectrics. Introduction to Business was only offered on the Freshman level this year. It had not been decided if this would continue in years to come, but the general consensus was that this year it had worked out fine.

The English Department added several new courses. One such class was novels. Practical English and college English were taught as two separate classes, while English literature and humanities were combined. The faculty in this department tried to start an active Stage Club. It was their hope that this would be accomplished, so in years to come a regular, consistent stage crew would be able to assist the play casts.

The Home Economics

The leaking roof causes students to be evacuated from the classroom to the library.

Department was proud to announce that more boys signed up for home economics classes this year than ever before. In fact, in some classes the boys outnumbered the girls, and Mrs. Zieba said the boys made better pastries than the girls!

The only change that occurred in the Science Department was that the Freshman classes had new textbooks that taught only general science. The advanced biology class went to see the cadavers at SIU also.

There weren't any drastic changes in the P.E. Department this year, but next year is the year for renovation and modernization. All P.E. classes will be co-ed. There will be additional classrooms and new locker rooms built.

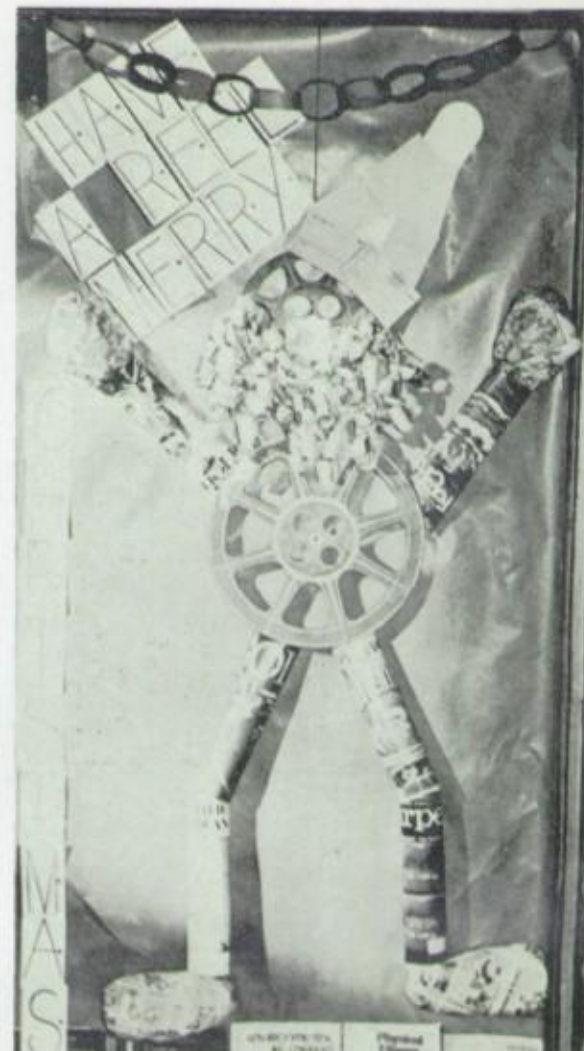

Steve Falmier promotes teepeeing in his speech class.

The Library door won first place for the second floor.

Chorus members diligently practice for the musical.

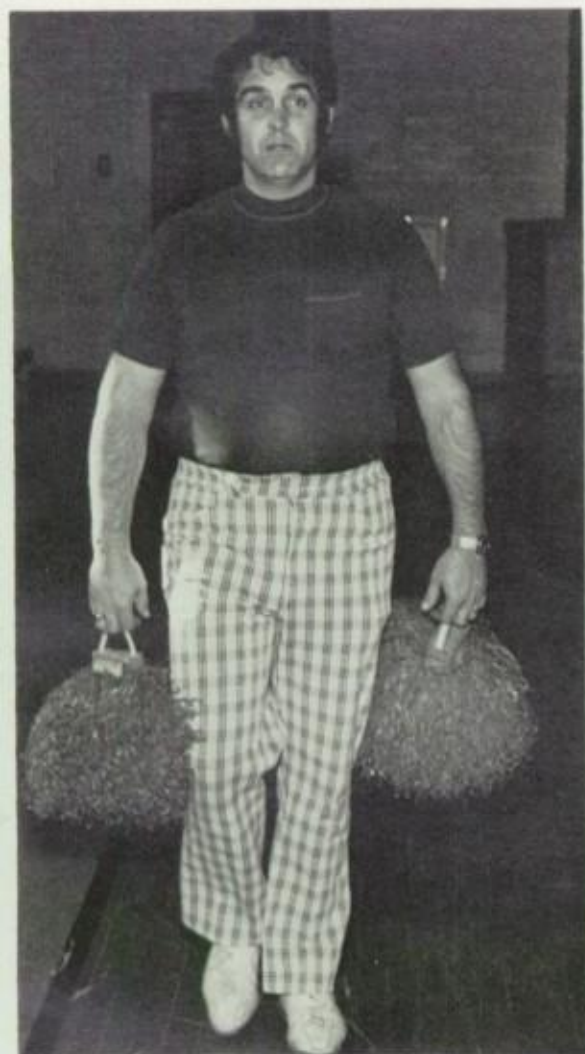

Lisa Pulley and Traci White study to become good secretaries.

John Cuendet and Walter Bogard learn to build houses with Jamie Jent's help.

Ginger Watson, Erin Stevens, and Libby Gerlock perform new disco steps.

Accounting students unrelentlessly labor over practice sets.

Algebra I students learn axioms postulates.

Cooperative Work Training class learns vocational skills.

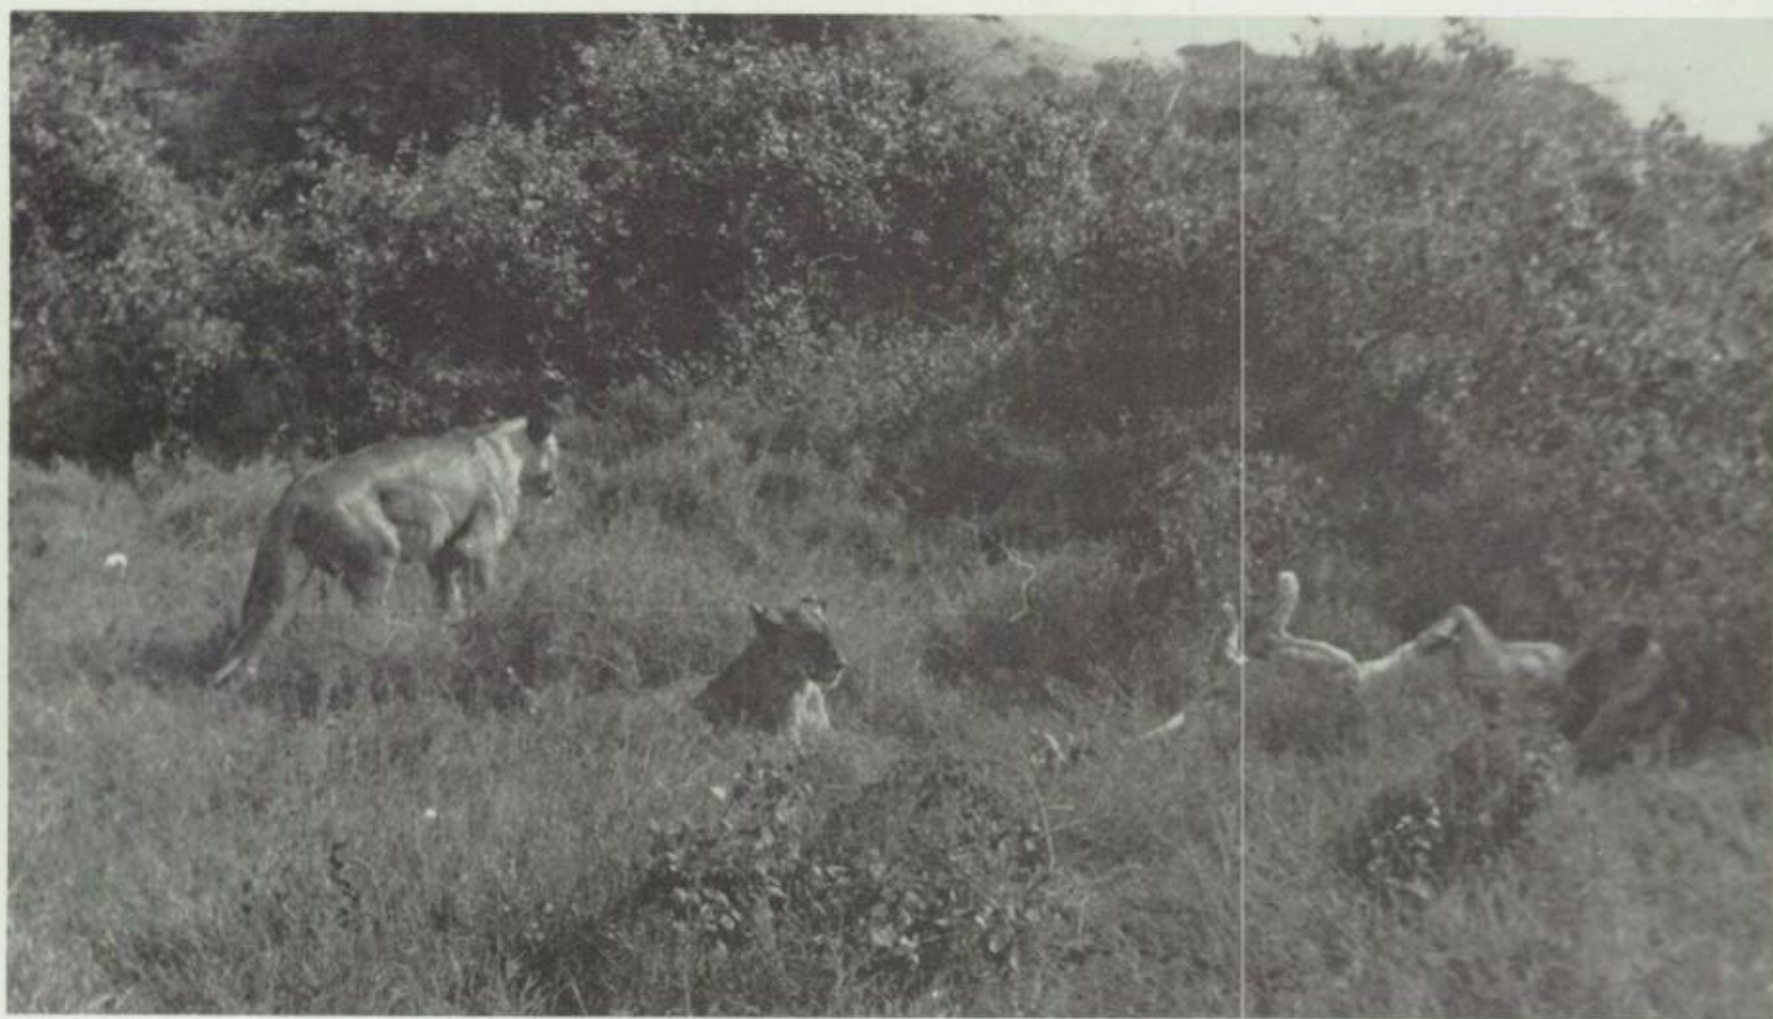

Shorthand students struggle to read their "scribbles."

Mrs. Hunter and Mrs. Jennings drink a toast to the Lions.

No Indian (Mrs. Robinson) can scare a Lion (Mrs. Oliva).

Advertising

You hear advertising all the time.

Catchy names and fancy jingles that rhyme.

It comes from T.V., papers and mail.

Selling overstocked items such as rubber pails.

They give you bargains you can't pass by.

And that other stores can't beat, even though they try.

They tell of their services, places, and phone.

So you can do business right from your home.

So look through our ads, they're the best;

They're better than all the rest!

We would like to thank all of those who support us.

A lion is lying down on a grassy hill in a savanna landscape. The lion is facing right, and its head is visible. The background shows a vast, open plain with scattered trees and a hazy horizon.

THE LION

When Lion sends his roaring forth,
Silence falls upon the earth:
For the creatures, great and small,
Know his terror-breathing call;
And, as if by death pursued,
Leave him to a solitude.

Lion, thou art made to dwell
In hot lands, intractable,
And thyself, the sun, the sand,
Are a tyrannous triple band;
Lion-king and desert throne,
All the region is your own!

Mary Howitt

Lion pictures on pages 1, 3, 29, 65, 79, 117, 131, and 160 were photographed by Bill Sweetser in Kenya.
